

Some people spend their entire lives WAITING on “their ship” to come in. They know that there is more to life than what they’re experiencing; but they don’t understand WHY is it taking so long.

Truth is, their ship is probably NOT going to come. The dream of “better days” only remain dreams; because they’re searching for something that SEEMS so far away from their grasp.

Now, that may sound discouraging; but you need to understand something. GOD has given purpose, talent & skill to all. If you’ll take some time to THINK, you will find out that “your ship” has always been INSIDE of you.

If you tap into your God-given POTENTIAL, your creativity will begin to explode. Your dreams will no longer be “only” dreams; they will become....your REALITY.
